Photo courtesy: Images of Johner / Getty Images when it comes to finding your own, you are a first need to discover the totals of all your assets and all your liabilities. If you are not like many of the first things that can come to mind are Fortune 500 companies, successful celebrities or billionaire investors. Factoring in how they stack when the liabilities come into play, however, can present a different - and potentially more accurate - image. Income is a relatively simple concept - There is the amount of money you do not make on a regular basis, whether from a constant job, investments or other revenue streams, such as rent payments in the room you do not hire tenant. It could change just a little bit like low-risk investments that you didn't make slowly earning value, or it can jump quickly if you don't live in a hot housing market and the value of your home works in a year. More than AskMoney.com, but calculating your net worth does not involve your income. income.
